

Private Temple Stay in Ohara, Kyoto

Place: A Buddhist Temple on the Ohara area, Kyoto

Price: JPY 10,800 per person (one night, two meals)

Rooms: 2 rooms with 6 tatami mats (9,93 m²), and 1 room with 12 tatami mats (19,86 m²)

Includes:

1. Dinner and Breakfast (both Shojin Ryori, the Buddhist style vegetarian meal),
2. Bath (there is only one bathtub, using natural water from mountain)
3. Buddhist monks' practice such as reading sutra, listening monk's teaching

Note:

- A guide must go to the temple with guests as there is no language instruction in the temple
- No internet access

About the area, Ohara

Ohara is located in the outskirts of Kyoto city, about an hour ride on bus from Kyoto Station. The area is blessed with an abundant of natural beauties and quiet temples.

What you can do before and after the temple stay

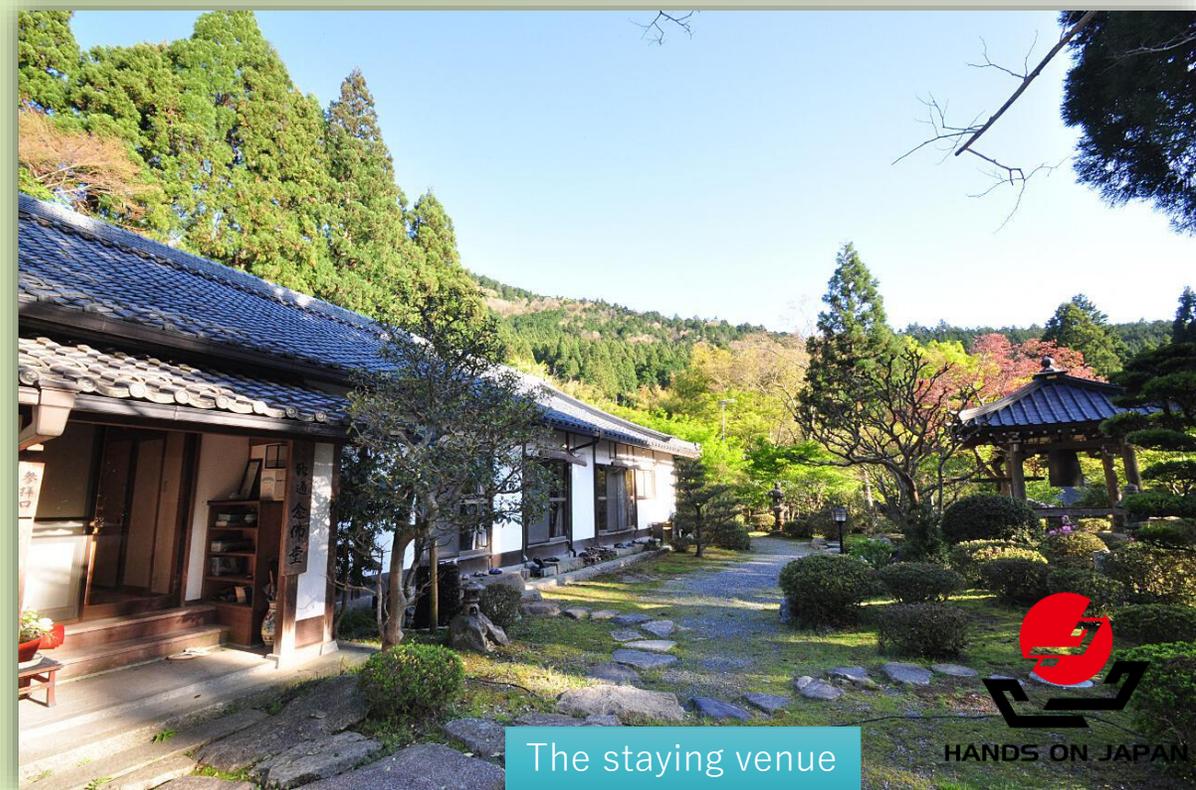

1. Check out the surrounding beautiful nature of Ohara and temples including Sanzenin Temple
2. Pay a visit to Ohara Morning Market (6AM ~9AM), Kyoto's most popular local food market (held only on Sundays)

Dinner

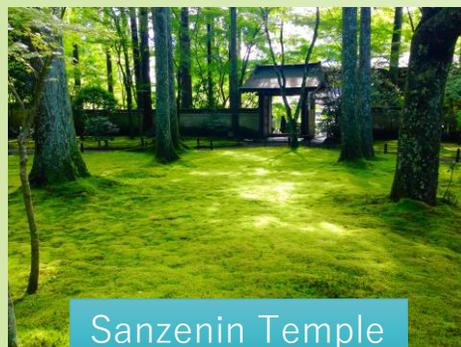

Guest room

The staying venue

Ohara Morning Market

Sanzenin Temple

Private Temple Stay in Kyoto

Place: a Buddhist Temple near Kyoto Imperial Palace (Nearest subway station is Kuramaguchi Station)

Price: JPY 7,020 per person (one night, NO meals)

Rooms: 1 rooms with 11~12 tatami mats, 1 room with 6~8 tatami mats, and 1 room with 3 tatami mats

Includes:

1. Bath (shampoo, soap, hair dryer)
2. Buddhist monks' practice (from 6AM) such as reading sutra, listening monk's teaching
3. Futon

Check in:

12:00~17:00

Curfew:

Until 21:00

Note:

- A guide attendance is a must as the temple has no language instruction.
- Other than shampoo and soap, guests are required to bring their own stuff (towel, toothbrush, night gown, etc.)

What you can do before and after the temple stay

1. Very easy access for a walk to Kyoto Imperial Place
2. One bus ride to Kinkakuji Temple, Nijo Castle

garden

Guest room

Front gate

